Exploration & Experimentation

Big Ideas/Key Concepts:

Students will use a variety of tools and media to brainstorm, explore and experiment with artistic concepts.

Enduring Understandings:

Creative and innovative thinking are essential life skills that can be developed.

Artists and designers shape artistic investigations, following or breaking with traditions in pursuit of creative art-making goals.

Artists and designers experiment with forms, structures, materials, concepts, media, and art making approaches.

Artists and designers balance experimentation with safety and freedom with responsibility while developing and creating artworks.

Through art-making, people construct meaning by investigating and developing awareness of perceptions, knowledge, and experiences.

Essential Question:

How do artists learn from trial and error? How do artists work? What factors encourage or prohibit artistic choice?

Creative Choices & Communication

Big Ideas/Key Concepts:

Students will make individual creative choices in art in order to communicate effectively and interpret the world around them.

Enduring Understandings:

Creative and innovative thinking are essential life skills that can be developed. People create and interact with objects, places, and design that define, shape, enhance, and empower their lives. Objects, artifacts, and artworks collected, preserved, or presented by artists (museums, or other venues) communicate meaning and a record of social, cultural, and political experiences resulting in the cultivating of appreciation and understanding. Visual literacy is an essential life skill that can be developed through the close examination of artwork and becomes a system by which viewers understand and interpret the world. Individual aesthetic and empathetic choices in art can lead to understanding and appreciation of self, others, the natural world, and constructed environments. Through art-making, people construct meaning by investigating and developing awareness of perceptions, knowledge, and experiences.

Essential Question:

How do artists select media and techniques in their creation of a work of art? How do artists develop their personal voice to communicate ideas about cultural, societal or political ideas?

Revise, Connect, Communicate

Big Ideas/Key Concepts:

Students will demonstrate acquisition of skills through application in chosen art form through revision and interpretation.

Enduring Understandings:

Artist and designers develop excellence through practice and constructive critique, reflecting on, revising, and refining work over time. Artists and other presenters consider various techniques, methods, venues, and criteria when analyzing, selecting, and curating objects artifacts, and artworks for preservation and presentation. Artists, curators and others consider a variety of factors and methods when preparing and refining artwork for display and deciding if and how to preserve and protect it. Objects, artifacts, and artworks collected, preserved, or presented either by artists, museums, or other venues communicate meaning and a record of social, cultural, and political experiences resulting in the cultivating of appreciation and understanding. Visual literacy is an essential life skill that can be developed through the close examination of artwork and becomes a system by which viewers understand and interpret the world. Individual aesthetic and empathetic awareness developed through engagement with art can lead to understanding and appreciation of self, others, the natural world, and constructed environments. Through art-making, people construct meaning by investigating and developing awareness of perceptions, knowledge, and experiences.

Essential Question:

How do artists revise ideas and refine skills to implement original artistic voice? How do artists connect with the world around them? How do artists make global connections and communicate those ideas in their original work?

Refine & Apply Personal Communication

Big Ideas/Key Concepts:

Students will demonstrate, clarify and apply their personal artistic voice by curating and presenting a collective body of their work.

Enduring Understandings:

People create and interact with objects, places, and design that define, shape, enhance, and empower their lives. Artist and designers develop excellence through practice and constructive critique, reflecting on, revising, and refining work over time. Artists and other presenters consider various techniques, methods, venues, and criteria when analyzing, selecting, and curating objects artifacts, and artworks for preservation and presentation. Artists, curators and others consider a variety of factors and methods when preparing and refining artwork for display and deciding if and how to preserve and protect it. Objects, artifacts, and artworks collected, preserved, or presented either by artists, museums, or other venues communicate meaning and a record of social, cultural, and political experiences resulting in the cultivating of appreciation and understanding. Individual aesthetic and empathetic awareness developed through engagement with art can lead to understanding and appreciation of self, others, the natural world, and constructed environments. People gain insights into meanings of artworks by engaging in the process of interpreting art. People evaluate art based on various criteria. Through art-making, people construct meaning by investigating and developing awareness of perceptions, knowledge, and experiences. People develop ideas and understandings of society, culture, and history through their interactions with and analysis of art.

Essential Question:

How do artists choose works that contribute to their artistic vision and voice in a body of work? How do artists refine their body of work to emphasize their personal artistic vision?
